

Montana Indigenous Animals

The Bighorn National Recreational Area is home to many of Montana's big game animals, such as the bighorn sheep, elk, deer, antelope, black bear, and mountain lion. Numerous other delightful animals include the porcupine, coyote, fox, beaver, cottontails, raccoons, and various birds and waterfowl. Some not so delightful critters will be avoided at all costs, particularly rattlesnakes, skunks, mosquitoes, and wasps. We will be staying on the Crow or Fort Belknap reservations. Buffalo are often visible, just don't get too close. Montana's indigenous animals are the jewels of the Treasure State.

TWO WORLDS CULTURAL IMMERSION CAMP

The Noble People of the First Nations

PH: 406-259-4040

Under the Milky Way

Montana summer days often begin with cool sunrises that disperse as quickly as the sun climbs in the sky. The Big Sky Country is characterized by crystal clear blue skies accentuated with majestic skylines and ornately crowned in elegant clouds. Butterflies appear to dance across the tops of prairie flowers while birds busily dart among the tall cottonwood trees. Days can be hot but as evening arrives the heat gives way to the chill of the night. The night skies are brilliantly illuminated. The moon seems close enough to touch as it emerges over the ridge top among millions of stars that intimately light the way along any prairie path under the Milky Way. The crisp beauty of the night calls for a good campfire and always draws a crowd. A warm cup of hot coffee, tea, or chocolate with story telling is shared around the campfire's warmth which not only warms the body but also the soul.

Traditional Approach to Learning

Each day will begin with respect for our natural world, our first teacher (mother earth). These natural elements determine when the day begins and ends.

Event: Daily Morning Ceremony

This seminar, in a Native setting, will adhere to teachings based in Native tradition. The values, socialization process and other aspects of tribal culture will be emphasized.

The Two Worlds Cultural Immersion Camp is led by cultural experts from the Northern Plains Tribal Nations.

This experience will be lead by Walks With The Pipe (AKA: William Snell, Jr.) the great grandson of Pretty Shield (Medicine Woman of The Crows) and Goes Ahead (Chief Scout for General Armstrong Custer).

An Experience of a Life Time!

This is an opportunity for a life changing experience that promotes understanding by allowing participants to walk in the moccasins of contemporary "First Nations" people.

Yellowtail Dam
Recreational Site

The purpose of this camp is to focus specifically on the American Indian culture, its community norms and expectations, socio-economic systems, and traditional life ways. It can be customized to fit the topic or issues you want to emphasize.

The success of this endeavor is assured

by:

- A Native encampment setting that reinforces the American Indian connection with nature and the natural world.
- The involvement of a cadre of Native experts as teachers and mentors.
- An agenda created to achieve optimal learning.
- Socialization within a Native community committed to sharing our culture for the greatest benefit to all people.
- Immersion Participant Comments:
 - "It was a life changing experience"
 - "Unforgettable"
 - "I would not trade the experience for anything"
 - "All I know at this point is that it was tremendously powerful and will bear fruit in ways that none of us can imagine right now"
 - "Without hesitation I can say that this is the best conference I have ever been to ..."
